PRESS RELEASE 2008/03
May 20, 2008

Dominik Schwager and Marcel Engels add strength to HYBRID RACING team

The crew is now complete for the spectacular HHF HYBRID CONCEPT CAR in the 24-hour race on the Nürburgring (May 22-25). In addition to the former Formula 1 driver Heinz-Harald Frentzen and the current FIA GT Champion Dirk Müller, Dominik Schwager (Munich) and Marcel Engels (Willich) will get behind the wheel in the "Green Hell". Dominik Schwager, who is 31 and Marcel Engels, who is 26, are both familiar with the course which combines the Grand Prix track and the Nordschleife, and have experience from the last few years at the ADAC Nordrhein 24-hour race. Dominik Schwager competed in various races in 2007 at the BF Goodrich long-distance championship Nürburgring and entered the 24-hour race behind the wheel of a Porsche GT3. Marcel Engels has regularly been racing on the Nordschleife since 2003 and most recently competed in a Porsche 997 GT3 Cup on the legendary Eifel course.

Dominik Schwager and Marcel Engels had the opportunity to get familiar with the HHF HYBRID CONCEPT CAR before the race by test driving it with Heinz-Harald Frentzen and Dirk Müller, who is currently leading the scoreboard of the GT2 category of the American Le Mans Series. One of the first photos of the HHF HYBRID CONCEPT CAR can be downloaded in high-resolution at www.hybrid-racing.ch. It can be published for free with the reference "Photo: HYBRID RACING AG".
